

You Know You're A Foster Parent When...

You get writers cramp after signing your family's names on just one Christmas card!

There are two or more of you in the home who are pregnant at the same time!

You have enough different gang members to have a rumble over the hair gel!

When you go to K-Mart, the checker asks you which school you are from!

You spend more time with your washer and dryer than you do with your spouse!

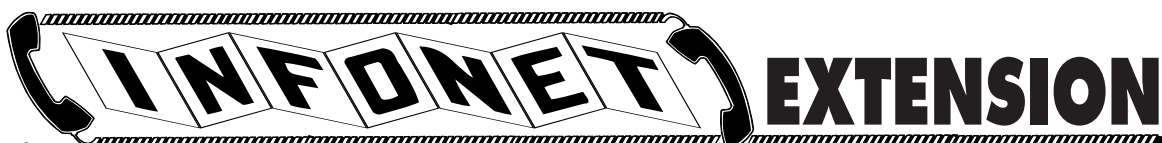

Santa Claus gives you a key to a store and leaves YOU milk, cookies, and alka-seltser!

You regard your toilet snake as a family pet!

You go to the park with just your family and have enough people for a football game!

The other patients at the child's therapist office sees you there so much they think you work there!

Strangers approach you in the mall and ask "Don't you know where babies come from?" and you calmly reply "Yes...Social Services!" 😊
